Second Chorus.
Oh, Jesus, my Saviour, will welcome
sinners home.
Welcome sinners home, welcome sinners home!
Oh, Jesus, my Saviour, will welcome
sinners home.
Sinner, don't delay!

The dying thief resolved to save
The Fountain in His day;
And there have I, though He has washed all my sins away.

Ever since by faith I saw the stream
His flowing wounds supply,
My Saviour's love has been my theme,
And shall be till I die.

Tune—"There's Room for All."
B. J. 254.

6 Haste bitter, great and small,
Hear the loving Saviour's call;
Mercy's fount is free to all,
Still there is room.

Chorus.
There's room enough for me,
There's room enough for thee,
Since Jesus died for all,
Mercy is free.

Hasten now from sin's broad way
To the feast prepared to-day;
Christ invites thee, say not na,
Still there is room.

Haste away, poor, wretched, ill,
Happy be in soul and mind;
Thou canst now deliverance find,
Still there is room.

Bell Isle History.

THE GROWTH OF THE SALVATION ARMY ON BELLE ISLE.

How the Hall was Erected.

Capt. and Mrs. Brighton, of Kenora.

Band Chat.

Woodstock, N. B.—We still wish to bring before the many good Bandmasters of The Army, the great need of such a one in this place. Band Secretary Nielsen is still awaiting an answer to his appeal. Is there not someone who feels led by God to volunteer. Woodstock, N. B., is a very pretty little town; band, bazaar, and picnics are very reasonable here, and the climate is very healthy. We must have someone to heed the call. Please write to the Secretary at once.

Huntsville Band is in need of three or four Bandsmen. Anyone desiring to get work in Huntsville, will please write Bandmaster J. Spanner, stating work and wages desired, and also what instrument you play. We are in for a good summer with our Band.

Our Band at Brockville is handicapped for a cornet player. Any desiring information, write, Box 639, Brockville, Ont.

Petrolia.—We have just welcomed Bandmaster Clark from Stratford. We could give work to a good b'acksmith and some painters—Bandsmen preferred.

Strathroy Band is coming to the front under Bandmaster Gare. Our numbers are increasing, and we now have thirteen players. We have just welcomed Bandsmen Carver and Cooper, from Chatham, who are taking up B bass and 1st cornet respectively. We are playing in Gore Park every Wednesday night. Good, steady work for three or four Bandsmen can be found right away. Who will come to one of the best and cleanest towns in these parts. Any Band wishing to trade a good cornet for a slide trombone, write to Bandmaster Gare, Box 116, Strathroy, Ont.

A Toss of a Coin.

The "Church" That Suited Him.

Seldom or never have cathedral domes or church spires looked down upon a more peculiar incident than that which occurred on the very steps of a church few weeks ago.

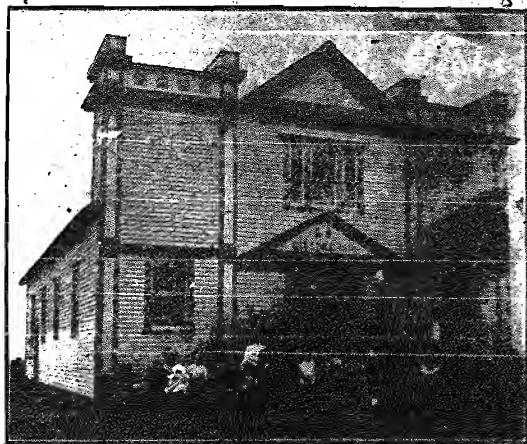

A rough horn-handled fellow was in the city for a time. He decided to be religious enough to go to church, and promptly at 11 a.m. on Sunday morning, began to ascend the church steps. Before reaching the doors, however, he saw numbers of ladies and gentlemen, dressed up in garments which made his own look surprisingly shabby.

"This ain't no place for me," he said to himself, and he turned away. And then, as if inspired by a new thought, he pulled out a coin from his pocket and tossed it up, saying, "Heads I go, tails I don't." Tails was even, and he marched off.

This footstep took him to The Army's next-door neighbor, and in turn to the Hall. He decided that this was his "church," and at the close of the meeting, got saved, and made application for membership.

To-day he is a respected Soldier and citizen.

Thousands who are capable of great sacrifices are yet not capable of the little ones, which are all that are required of them.

The New Hall at Bell Isle.

Some few years ago, a number of friends and Soldiers from the other Corps in Newfoundland, removed to Bell Isle, in order to labour in the iron ore mines. They all missed the sound of the drum, and, of course, the Soldiers missed the meetings and visitations of the Officers, etc. They planned together to start a Corps.

They conducted cottage meetings, with good success, then they agreed to write to Headquarters for an Officer.

This request was granted. A girl Officer arrived. She was taken in by a comrade as one of the family. This kind lady would go to the trouble of removing the furniture from her parlour on Saturday evenings, so that on Sunday the room would be more suitable for their little gatherings. On Monday, she would return it, and clean up for the week.

Later, they hired a shack. Soldiers began to come in, and Soldiers were made. Then a 1st Officer arrived to build a little Hall. The Hall was at last completed; then they felt the work was really growing in every way.

Another change of Officers, and Captain French, now Ensign, arrived. He left his wife in St. John's, came, and had a look around, then asked Mrs. Blackmore if it were not possible for him and his wife to still remain at her house as the previous "single" Officers had done. It was so arranged, and then Mrs. French arrived. So they started, and with the aid of their little Corps, built a Quarters, this being another victory for the little Corps.

Now the Little Hall was too small to accommodate the crowd, and many people had to be turned away. So they started collecting for a larger Hall, and raised a considerable amount. ($250.00).

Adjutant and Mrs. Higdon came. The Soldiers and Locals started collecting again, and secured a piece of land, and started on March 15th, 1909, to build a new Hall, which was completed the 9th of May, 1910.

Now came the opening, the 14th of May. Colonel and Mrs. Rees, Adjutant and Mrs. Bristol, and a number of others arrived for the occasion.

Mr. F. Burrows, manager of the Nova Scotia Iron and Steel Co. Mine, turned the key and formally opened the new Citadel to the glory of God and the use of The Salvation Army. As a number of the other leading men of the Island spoke in very favourable terms of The Army's progress on this Island.

Much credit is due to Treasurer Blackmore, who collected $169.55; and Brother George Brown, who collected $70.00; and Sergeant-Major W. Cox, who collected $128.99, in the mines, toward the new Hall.

Credit is also due to Adjutant Higdon and Captain Caanion, who worked hard at this building; and to all the comrades and friends for their united efforts in the helping.

First-Aid Class at Vancouver.

Sunday school classes were recently organized and conducted by Capt. Bell. They were a great success.

On Monday night Captains Bell, Caanion, and Captain May, were united in a joint service banquet took place which was enjoyed by the kindred.

Our next endeavour is to fit up the old Hall, and make it available for summer holidays, a lecture hall will be supplied, which will be of great advantage to the children.

The people here are very kind and generous. We wish to thank them for all the kindness they have shown toward our Work in the past and solicit their co-operation in the future.—Mrs. Adjutant Higdon.

First-Aid Class at Vancouver.

AN INTERESTING INVENTION.

Among the many inventions taken up by Adjutant Bell, the now famous "First-Aid" or "jury" class. Under the direction of Brother Bell, this class is one of which is rapidly making able, at any time, to give assistance in cases of accident.

So rapid has been the development of the members of the corps that Brother Bell is finding it a testing men in the Army formations for the St. John Ambulance Shield, which is composed of the different first-aid sections of the City of Vancouver, including the military and police classes.

To say that the "First-Aid" class would be beneficial to any boy would be putting it mildly, as they are very few, if any, beneficial. Work that we think will create greater interest among the young men of our Corps than the "First-Aid" class.

A few weeks ago this class gave a demonstration in the Cloud of the many simple methods used in rendering first-aid to the injured and so thoroughly were the different methods exemplified, that the majority of the St. John Ambulance Corps of the City of Vancouver, among other things, is that there is no other class in the city, not some of them had been going for several years, which could give a better demonstration than that of The Salvation Army—which had only been organized for six weeks.

We trust that our comrades will be instrumental in giving first-aid to many souls, spiritual as well as physical.—S. B. Redfern.

Prayerfulness means more the prayer; it means that prayer becomes a principle of life.

The area of the district is about 14 square miles.

The land included in the tract is the most part elevated and rocky, but not suited for agriculture, are, however, covered to a great extent by a forest, which is of great value for the supply of wood for the prairie country situated on the base of the mountain, and for the requirement of the streams for the protection of the main streams of the country.

Sentimentality.

At the Guildhall, London, Mr. Roosevelt made the following statement: "Those who have to live with us, especially the poor, must remember that a situation is that in Egypt, weakness, sentimentality may cause more harm than violence."

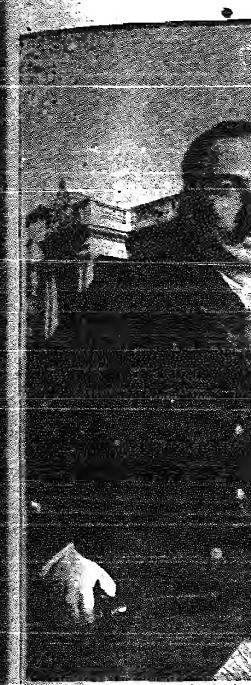

Sentimentality is the love of the word "sentimental" and on which righteousness is based.

Someone took offense at the word "sentimental" and wrote to Mr. Roosevelt to complain of it.

In reply, Mr. Roosevelt said sentimentality is a good thing, and that it is good for sentimental speech to be direct.

I abhor sentimentality, on the other hand, it is worth his salt who

First-Aid Class at Vancouver.

AN INTERESTING INNOVATION

Among the many innovations in S. A. Corps work, which has been taken up by Adjutant Bell, is the now famous "First-Aid to the Injured" class. Under the leadership of Brother Bell, this class is one of which he reproduced his rapid strides in the direction of being able, at any time to give assistance in cases of accident or kind.

So rapid has been the growth of the members of this class that Brother Bell is finding it interesting men in the Annual Convention for the St. John Ambulance Shield, which is competed for yearly by the different first-aid societies of the City of Vancouver, including military and police classes.

To say that the "First-Aid" class would be beneficial to any Corps would be putting it mildly, as there are very few, if any, branches of the Work that we think could be of greater interest among the members of our Corps than the "Injured" class.

A few weeks ago this class gave a demonstration in the Chapel of the many simple methods used in rendering first-aid to the injured, and so thoroughly were the different methods exemplified, that the Secretary of the St. John Ambulance Corps of the City of Vancouver said among other things said that he knew of no other class in the city, and some of them had been going for several years, which could give a better demonstration than that of the Salvation Army—which had only been organised for six weeks.

We trust that our comrades will be instrumental in giving first-aid to many souls, spiritual as well as physical.—S. B. Redburn.

Prayerfulness means more than prayer; it means that prayer has become a principle of life.

COLONEL GASKIN AT OTTAWA!

Brigadier Hargrave Assists.

The Field Secretary and Brigadier Hargrave, the Provincial Commander, visited the Imperial City, and conducted meetings at the No. I. Corps, on June 4th, 5th, and 6th.

On Saturday night, the Colonel was given a hearty welcome by a fine crowd of people. The meeting was interesting, not only because of the presence of visitors, but because new colours were to be presented to the Corps. It may be said just here, that the colours were offered by Captain Thompson, to that portion of the Corps which raised the largest amount for S.D. The Sisters being the winners, handed their award—the new flag—to the Corps.

Colonel Gaskin's address on Sunday morning, had a great and good effect on the congregation, and a number made a fresh consecration to God's service.

Sunday afternoon the Colonel spent with the Young People. It was Decision Sunday for them. Several came forward and gave their little hearts to God.

The Sunday night crowd was excellent, despite showers of rain. "Watchman, what of the night?" was the text chosen by the Colonel for his address, which was explicit, convincing and convicting. Three souls sought salvation in the prayer meeting, in which the Colonel dedicated to God and The Army, the two infant children of two Bandsmen. A Hallelujah wind-up followed.

Rain fell in torrents on Monday night, when the Colonel lectured on "Leave From My Diary". But the crowd was large; the Band out in front, and they were throughout the week-end. Their music was a credit to them and their Bandmaster Mr. Neills, of the Y. M. C. A., occupied the chair, and at the close of the lecture voiced the feelings of everybody present, when he proposed a vote of thanks to the Colonel.

THE FINANCIAL SECRETARY AT HALIFAX.

A Splendid Week-end.
(By wire.)

Halifax, N. S., June 13.—The Financial Secretary, Brigadier Scott Poter, conducted the services at Halifax, No. I. and II., on Sunday. Despite the fact that the weather was stormy, crowds were splendid, finances excellent, and six souls for the day. Adjutant Jaynes dancing happy; Bandsmen and Soldiers rejoicing. Everybody says, come again, Brigadier Moses, Iron Down Home.

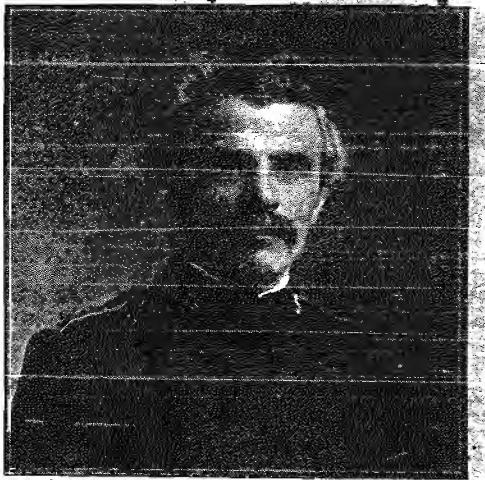

Ensign and Mrs. Sharpe.

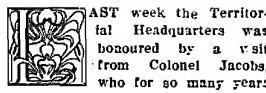

Who have recently been promoted. These comrades have done many years' good service in the Western Provinces. They came out of Dresden, Ont., where they put in several years' service as Soldiers. They are at present stationed at St. Catharines.

Colonel Jacobs

VISITS CANADA AND CHATS WITH A WAR CRY MAN.

Colonel Jacobs.

LAST week the Territorial Headquarters was honoured by a visit from Colonel Jacobs, who for so many years rendered admirable service to Canada in his capacity of Chief Secretary.

Colonel Jacobs spent 17 years in Canada, and during that time had but three appointments, that is, Provincial Officer for the Maritime Provinces, then General Secretary, and Chief Secretary. The last appointment he held up to about four years ago, when he was transferred to England, to take the position of Chief Secretary, under Commissioner of St. George, of the City Colony Work. He has also had the unique experience of having served under all the Territorial Commanders that have charge of The Army's Work in Canada. Commander Miss Booth, whom he holds in the highest respect and affection, being, of course, the Leader under whom he has served the longest.

The Colonel has been an Officer for twenty-eight years, and came to Canada with the rank of Major, to take charge, as already stated, of the Work in the Eastern part of Canada.

We are glad to say that the Colonel looks very well, and is enjoying fairly good health, notwithstanding that he has exchanged the scene of his labours in Toronto, the Queen City, for notorious Whitechapel, in East London.

He was delighted to have the opportunity of visiting Canada, and if time permitted, would regard it as a great privilege to sit some of the Customs in which, in bygone days, he had such joy in pronouncing the uncharitable speeches of Christ.

Mrs. Jacobs would also have been delighted to visit Canada, of which place she has such tender memories.

Colonel Jacobs, at the time of writing, has only had the opportunity of visiting Toronto, but he was very pleased with the healthy, progressive look of the Temple Corps, and thinks the Salvage Work in the city calculated to be of great benefit to the poor.

As stated, Colonel Jacobs' present appointment is that of Chief Secretary for the City Colony of the Men's Social Work in Great Britain. What this means, may be inferred from the fact that this Work comprises fifteen Workshops and Labour Factories, and seven Labour Bureaux, for employing homeless, workless men. We may say that during 1909, no fewer than 22,194 men were provided with temporary or permanent employment. There are also twelve Industrial Homes, and twelve Shelters, and ten Poor Men's Metropoles. In connection with these Institutions, 2,216,384 cheap lodgings have been provided during the past year.

The seven Cheap Food Depots of The Army, during the same year, supplied 6,221,327 cheap meals.

These bald figures can, of course, give very little idea of the great network of Institutions for the Social Service of submerged men, that the Darkest England Scheme stands for. But the opportunity afforded for benefiting the poor of England by this scheme is enormous, and Commissioner Sturges, the Head of the Work, is with his usual humanity and sagacity, pushing it vigorously forward.

Colonel Jacobs, in our brief chat, was very anxious to make the point clear that the Social Work does not consist in merely supplying a submerged man with temporaries, for he assured us that seventy-five per cent of the men who are to be found under the roof-tree of The Salvation Army's Social Institutions are convalescent men.

It is interesting to know that the Headquarters of this Social Work are closely connected with the early history of The Salvation Army. In the romantic oil market which used to occupy the site of the present building, The General established his first Headquarters, and commenced primary salvation meetings and other wonderful holiness campaigns with the never-ceasing assistance of the Chief of the Staff. Today all operations on the premises are entirely devoted to the welfare and social salvation of the submerged sections of humanity.

A Dinner-hour Incident.
Restored through the War Cry.

A labourer, who, through his dissipation, had left his wife and home, was eating his lunch in a corner of a saloon.

In between mouthfuls, he either talked to his chum, sitting beside him, or read a line here and there from the piece of paper wrapped around the piece of sandwiches. Suddenly his eyes fell upon his own name.

"Hullo! what's this, I wonder?" he cried. Both men stopped their munching, while the one read aloud: "Miming: William Bradburn. Do come home. Eise has died since you left."

Bill Bradburn dropped his paper and all, and simply groaned, "Oh, God!" Then, picking up the paper, he read along the top, "The War Cry."

Bill couldn't walk fast enough to The Army that night. He made arrangements to return to his wife, and both are now doing well as Soldiers in the Great S. A.

They Did the Washing.

And the Man Got Married.

TWO young Officers were married at the door of a little house, a faced and poorly-furnished room, came and told them that they could not afford the price of a War Cry; moreover, the woman was slaves from morning till night, and rarely had time to read a paper. At the moment, she was seated ready for her tea, a disengaged washing fellow, and not been ready to spoil.

Touched by the woman's story and quick to see their opportunity to do something practical, the young officers, after obtaining "War Cry" into the steaming kitchen, rolled up their sleeves, and were soon spilling over the wash-tub.

In the meantime, the man came. The sight of the Salvationists gave him a rude shock, from which he was not recovered. He came to the Officers' Quarters, and got converted.

Why She Cried.

The Effect of a Step.

The Captain was telling the story of the conversion of an old hard-headed woman, when he noticed a woman burst into tears. At the close of the meeting he asked her if she was in trouble, and if he could render any assistance.

"Oh, no, thank you, Captain," replied the woman, drying her eyes. "I am not one bit unhappy; I'm rather very happy. I'll tell you why."

"Your story brought to my mind the dark days I had before my life was saved. He, too, was a drunkard and cared not one bit for me or his home. One day some Army lads came and helped me to thoroughly clean up the house. When I came home he noticed the difference in the place, and then he asked me who had been there. I told him the Army lads. I saw his heart. He felt like a really regenerated fellow. The action of his girls had touched him to the heart."

"He went to the Hall after that, determined to give God a trial and today he's Sergeant-Major of a Corps in Ontario.

"And this is just what I cried," Captain. Tears of joy—yes, indeed."

This comrade is a veteran of the War Cry and here we see him in his dress uniform. He has been a Salvationist for over twenty years, and joined the corps to receive service by "enlistment" as a Soldier at Dufferin Barracks, Toronto.

PERSONALITIES

Bruce Hardy, who has been in the service in the N.W.T., has now been appointed to Major Phillips, in Vancouver.

Lieutenant Fuguire, who has been in Montreal and Ottawa, in various places, he helped to the Metropole. A large number of men were present, and the salvation. The Company's special meeting will be held, and tea will be served.

We learn that Captain J. Robertson, at present assistant Major in the Social Work, is under farewell leave. His next appointment will be known to them upon their return to the Staff College, England.

Captain Bishop has been sent to assist Ensign Edward G. Oliver Salvage Store, in Captain Richard, who goes to Major Taylor at Montreal.

At a meeting held recently in Queen's Hall, by Ensign Heaton, professed salvation.

Brigadier Potter is on a small tour to Montreal, St. John, Halifax, and Quebec.

The Territorial Young Men is doing excellent service applying at various Corps. In absence of the Senior Banquet, the Senior Banquet opportunity of helping a small Corps in the vicinity, etc., while their own Corps.

Major and Mrs. Green have been giving good meetings at Gloucester and Tilsonburg. We note at both places, unusually good times at Gloucester to say that Mrs. Green has not been very good.

To strike at Springfield is making our Work there strong. Our Soldiers are determined to leave the town.

Our Evangeline Home, of which Major and Mrs. Martin had the benefit of the Army Ady and others of the city, put in a garden and plan.

Colonel and Mrs. Biggs have been on furlough in the East, now returning. They are now in New York, and the Captain will be one of the New Comer's.

Brigadier Turner, Executive Officer, has been to Vancouver, to attend meetings and interest himself in the work of our Social Work, which consists of four or five new units.

Ensign DeBriacy, having been away for some time, is better, and hopefully returning soon.

Ensign Sabine, Martin, is still on rest.

Colonel Freeman, whose home is at his house in Toronto, is now at his home in Taunton.

They Did the Warning

And the Man got Converted.
Two young Officers were sitting at the door of a lit'le tea-room, and, poorly-dressed, came and told them that she could not afford the money for War Cry; moreover, she stated, she slaved from morning till night, rarely had time to read a paper. At the moment, she who served, referred to as to how he could get a ready for her son, a discerning drinking fellow, and not leave washing to spoil.

Touched by the woman's story, and quick to see their opportunity to do something practical, the young Officers, after obtaining permission, left the steaming kitchen, rolled up their sleeves, and were soon resplendent over the wash-table.

In the meantime, the son came. The sight of the Salvationists, and him a rude shock, from which he never recovered. He came to Officers' Quarters, and got converted.

Why She Cried.

The Effect of a Story.

The Captain was talking the story of the conversion of an old drunkard. Suddenly he noticed a woman burst into tears. At the close of the meeting he asked her if she was in trouble, and if he could help her. assistance.

"Oh no, thank you, Captain," replied the woman, drying her eyes.

"I am not one bit unhappy," she said, "Your story brought to my mind the dark days I had before my life was saved. He too was a drunkard and cared not one bit for me or his home. One day some Army lads came and helped me to thorough clean up the house." When he came home he noticed the difference in the place, and then in a low voice asked me who had been there. I told him The Army lads. Jack lit his head. He felt like a really grateful fellow. The action of the girls had touched him to the heart."

"He went to the Hall after that determined to give God a trial, and to-day he is Sergeant-Major of our Corps in Ontario."

"And this is just what I cried over Captain. Tears of joy—yes, tears."

This comrade is a converted drunk, and here we see him in his new dress, used to wear before his conversion. He has been a Salvationist for twenty years, and renders an acceptable service by "spreading the Word" in Toronto.

PERSONALITIES

Major Hardy, who has rendered valuable service in the North-West frontier, has now been appointed to assist Major Phillips, in the Social Work at Vancouver.

Lieut-Colonel Pugnaire recently visited Montreal and Ottawa. At the former place, he held a meeting in the Metropole. A large crowd of men were present, and a number accepted salvation. The Colonel also held a special meeting with the employees, and had tea with them.

We learn that Captain and Mrs. McAdam, at present assisting Major Taylor in the Social Work at Montreal, are under farewell orders. Their next appointment will be made known upon their return from attending the Staff College at London, England.

Captain Bishop has been appointed to assist Ensign Edwards at the Ottawa Salvage Store, in the place of Captain Richard, who goes to assist Major Taylor at Montreal.

At a meeting held recently in the Ottawa Jail, Ensign Edwards, 160 men professed salvation.

Brigadier Potter is on a special visit tour to Montreal, St. John, N. B., Halifax, and Quebec.

The Territorial Young People's Band is doing excellent service by playing at various Corps, during the absence of the Senior Bands. This gives the Senior Bands an excellent opportunity of helping the small Corps in the vicinity of Toronto, while their own Corps do not suffer.

Major and Mrs. Green have been having good meetings recently at Galt and Tilsonburg. They had six weeks at both places. They had similarly good times at Galt. We trust to say that Mrs. Green's health has not been very good lately.

The article at Springhill is seriously affecting our work there, as the majority of our Soldiers have been compelled to leave the town.

On Evangeline Home, of St. John, N.B., has had the benefit of the Brigadier Adby and our members of the city, put in a day's digging in the garden and planting the same.

Colonel and Mrs. Bigelow, who have been on furlough for some time in the East, have returned to service. They are now in Toronto, and the Captain will be assuming duty at the New Comer's Inn.

Lieut-Colonel Turner, Ensign Cox and Martin will shortly be returning to Vancouver, to conduct meetings and interest the public in connection with the extensive Social Work, and the four or five new Corps.

Ensign DesBrisay, who has for some time, is now much better, and hopes to take a vacation soon.

Ensign Babineau, Martin and Austin still on rest.

Lieut-Colonel Freeman, from St. John's, Newfoundland, is enjoying unbroken health in his home in Toronto.

REOPENING THE TORONTO TEMPLE.

Colonel Jacobs Conducts Special Services and has Good Times.

OLD COMRADES RALLY UP TO SEE THE OLD CHIEF SECRETARY.

AST Sunday was a day of exceptional interest, as well as spiritual blessing, at the Toronto Temple. To begin with, the Temple, which has been closed for a fortnight, for renovating purposes, was re-opened, and very nice indeed, the historic old place looked, with its oak-grained dado, and new dress of cream tint and olive-shaded green. There have also been some improvements introduced, the old forms have been dispensed with, and the seating accommodation made up of a most comfortable pattern of assembly chair; the platform has been enlarged, and so arranged that the Band Conductor will be able to remain with his Band when conducting—very pleasing innovations.

Then, an old and very much respected warrior—Colonel Jacobs, a wilful Canadian Chief Secretary, was to conduct the opening services. In view of this, it is not surprising that a fine congregation assembled for the morning's service.

Lieut-Colonel Pugnaire conducted the proceedings, and when introducing Colonel Jacobs, paid a fine tribute to his worth and work. He stated that some of the most wonderful soul-saving Campaigns in which he had ever taken part, were those led by the Colonel, when row after row of seekers for salvation were lined up at the mercy-seat; also, that the splendid position The Army held in the city to-day, was largely attributable to the hard work and successful toll put into the city by the Colonel in the days gone by.

Colonel Jacobs received a decided ovation. The large audience, which included many old-timers, standing to their feet, and greeting him with thunderous applause. In his reply, he made an apt reference to his visit to that battlefield of the British Army in South Africa—Mafersfontain, and told how that as he gazed upon that historic spot, his imagination brought before his mind all the facts that he had read concerning that bloody battlefield; and as he gazed upon the walls of the beloved building, and upon the faces of those who had taken part in the fights of by-gone days; the memory of these glorious times, flooded his soul.

The Colonel gave a stirring address, in the quaint and interesting manner which is distinctly his own and is so familiar to many comrades all over the Canadian Territory. The subject of his remarks was "Old Babies," and based upon a portion of Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians.

The service was greatly enjoyed, and four came forward to renew their consecration to God and to live closer to Him in the future.

LONDON'S SOCIAL PROBLEMS—AN ABLE ADDRESS.

Those who gathered in the Temple for the afternoon service, were treated to an excellent address on some of the social problems of London—the world's capital—as Colonel

Songsters then sang that grand old song, "Rock of Ages."

A short salvation talk by Brigadier Taylor followed. He pointedly asked the people what they were going to do with Jesus. A selection by the Band entitled, "Redemption," a solo by Lieut-Colonel Pugnaire, "Saved by Grace," and then Colonel Jacobs rises to speak.

He reads portions from three books of the Bible, and then, before commenting on the texts, fulfills a certain task he had been charged with, namely, to remember Mrs. Colonel Jacobs and the children to the people of Toronto. His eldest daughter, Bella, wished especially to be remembered to the young folks at the Temple. She was now a Sergeant at the International Training Homes, and led on a band of Cadets at Walthamstow, where, at present, The Army was experiencing considerable opposition. Like a brave Soldier of Christ, however, she was sticking to the fight, and learning to endure hardness uncomplainingly.

This little duty discharged, the Colonel began a straightforward attack on the conscience of his hearers. He described the strewing effects of sin, and urged people to arouse themselves before their consciences got so seared and hardened that they thought nothing of sinning against God and their fellow-men.

Lieut-Colonel Pugnaire led the prayer meeting, and in response to his earnest appeal for decisions, one young man rose to his feet. As Staff-Captain Fraser prayed for him he came forward to the mercy-seat. Another penitent soon came, and Mrs. Major Findlay prayed on his behalf. Before the meeting closed, eight souls had publicly made their peace with God, thus crowning the re-opening services at the Temple with blessed results.

Lieutenant Challicom recently underwent a serious operation. We are glad to say that she has recovered from its effects, and is now resting at her home in Toronto.

We are grieved to report that the eldest daughter of Adjutant Oxford, of Bay Roberts, passed away very suddenly, owing to convulsions. Added to this, the Adjutant is in poor health.

Major Miller is busy at present, supervising the alterations to be made at our Lake Shore Farm, near Lorne Park, in anticipation of numbers of children from Toronto being given an outing there this summer.

The following clipping is from the St. Croix "Courier," a paper published at St. Stephen, N. B.

"Captain Davies leaves here this morning for his new station at Arnprior, N. S. During his residence here, of almost a year, the young man has done very efficient work for The Salvation Army, and leaves the Corps stronger numerically than it has been for some time, and free of all debt or incumbrance."

Lieut-Colonel Southall reports that the interest in the Advanced Training still continues. Quite a number of Officers are sending in papers; the favourite subjects being Bible History and Homiletics. A number of diplomas are shortly to be issued.

COL. AND MRS. MAPP AND THE COMMISSIONER AND THE STAFF BAND.

A Very Successful Week-end.

The special international meeting conducted by Colonel and Mrs. Mapp at Niagara Falls, Canada, was marked with a special session of the presence of the Commissioner. Large and enthusiastic meetings were held at every hotel in the whole city was attended.

The open-air service held on the Canadian side in the morning was the Buffalo's Silver Band, the music, undoubtedly stirred up enthusiasm.

The holiness meeting in the Sabbath School building at Niagara Falls' Centre, was marked with a power of conviction. The Commissioner's address was deeply印象ed.

The afternoon meeting was a religious character, and was presided over by the District Secretary, Mr. Akers, with a company of twelve Presidents and eight Presidents' men on the platform. The one certainly distinguished place and our Canadian comrades were proud of him as their representative.

His lecture dealt with the spirit, attitude, and accomplishments of The Salvation Army.

At times he reached to the height of strong

THE WEEK-END'S DESPATCHES

In Spite of the Hot Spell the Old Chariot Rolls On.

IS YOUR CORPS IN A BLAZE?

The God of Elijah still Lives and Answers by Fire.

RIVERDALE BAND VISITS NEW-MARKET.

Accompanied By the D. C's—Major Presides.

The town of Newmarket was visited by the Riverdale Band on Saturday and Sunday, June 4th and 5th. Brigadier and Mrs. Morehen, Ensign Burton and Captain Kelly accompanied the band.

The musical festival given in the Hall on Saturday night was enjoyed by a good crowd, which, by various means and methods, Ens. Gammaidge, the energetic C. O., had secured.

On the programme, were the "Western States" and "Trombone" marches, "Songs of Salvation," and other selections. Bandmaster (Captain) Myers, gave a rattling cornet solo, Captain Kelly sang, "This world is not my home," and Bandman Milne played a euphonium solo, with variations.

Early on Sunday morning the band drove to the Poorhouse, two or three miles distant, and there brought some cheer to the inmates.

Ensign Burton led the holiness meeting in the Hall, Major Pearson presided over the afternoon praise service, held in the Town Hall. The programme included the "Rock," "Invitation," and "Redemption" selections, a song by the Male Choir, an instrumental quartette, and two solos by Captain Kelly. Brigadier Morehen made an appeal for whole-hearted service to God.

Rail handicapped open-air work until night. The crowd afterwards followed the band to the Town Hall, where a salvation meeting, conducted by Brigadier Morehen, was held.

Finances were excellent, and Ensign Gammaidge, who toiled hard for the benefit of her visitors, was thereby exalted and helped materially.

A GENEROUS FRIEND.

Visit of D. C's.

Truro, N. S.—Major and Mrs. McLean and Captain Turner were with us on Monday. Their music and singing was much enjoyed, also Mrs. McLean's interesting address.

Our S.D. effort was a splendid success. A gentleman gave the Ensign $23.00 to purchase a new drum. He also donated $5.00 for S.D. The people of Truro are generous and appreciate the good work of the Army.

A number of souls have recently been saved. Ensign Melkie and Cadet Riley are leading us on—One Interested.

Triton—Since Captain Moulton took charge of this Corps, many souls have been saved, and Soldiers added to the roll. Although a number of the men Soldiers have gone away for the summer fishing season, we who remain behind, are fighting on. —Mayflower.

FIVE OPEN-AIRS IN ONE DAY.

St. Catharines.—On the 24th of May, we held open-air at Thorold and Merriton, which were greatly enjoyed by large crowds in both places. At night we held two open-air in Port Dalhousie, making a total of five for the day. The music and singing was enjoyed by young and old, the people giving liberally.

On Sunday night, we held memorial services in memory of our late King. A man sought salvation.

We have reached our S.D. target, which was three hundred dollars.

Our usual Friday night prayer meeting was held at a comrade's home in Thorold.—Corps Comes.

SOLDIERS DANCED FOR JOY.

A Wedding and a Lecture.

Comfort Cove.—Birchy Bay, an Outpost, was visited on Sunday, May 15th. At night three souls were won for God. How the people danced and shouted. It was an old-time religion meeting.

On Friday, 20th, a wedding was conducted at Comfort Cove, by Capt. Bowering, of Campbellton; on the following Saturday night the Captain gave a lecture on the great International Congress, of 1904. A good crowd turned out to hear him. The Captain was with us also on Sunday. At night two souls came to the mercy-seat.—Dixie.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Five Souls.

Port Blandford.—The memorial service of the late John Halloway, was conducted on Sunday night, May 22nd. The Hall was crowded. The mother, sister and brother of our promoted comrade spoke very feelingly. One thing that cheered and brought joy to their hearts was the glorious hope of meeting in the Better Land. The Singers' Brigade Sang "The Homeland." Many hearts were touched, as the story of the life and death of our comrade was told.

Since last report, five precious souls have been saved.—Lieut. H. Dicks.

FOUR BROUGHT TO CHRIST.

Dovercourt—We can report victory and progress in every branch of the Corps. Notwithstanding the fact that Adjutant Halikirk and the Singers were assisting Lieut. Col. Turner at Westmorland Ave. Methodist Church, on Sunday evening, we had a glorious time in our own Hall. Captain and Mrs. Laidlow and Lieutenant Jennings assisted Mrs. Halikirk, and four souls were gathered in during a rousing prayer-meeting.—G. W.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING AT MONTREAL I.

An Impressive Service.

Great interest was centred in the meeting that was held on Thursday, June 2nd, in the Montreal I. Citadel, for the purpose of uniting in matrimony, comrades Brother Brown and Sister Mortimer.

A good crowd assembled, and the attention of the people throughout the service, went to show that even in such meetings, the aim of The Army is to impress the people with the necessity of serving God.

Captain Hurd and Mrs. Staff-Captain Payne spoke briefly on the wisdom of taking this step when the blessing and approval of God had been sought in the matter.

After the comrades had been united, they testified to the determination to unitedly seek the best interests of the Kingdom of God.

Adjutant Cornish, in well-chosen words, spoke of our comrades' faithfulness; congratulated them on their marriage, and, on behalf of the Corps, beseeched for them every good wish, blessing, happiness and success from God.

The best of good feeling prevailed throughout the service, and at the finish, the happy couple were given a hearty send-off.

Rev. Mr. Mackay and Staff-Captain Boss officiated.—C. R.

AUCTION SALE OF CHILDREN.

Salvationist—the Highest Bidder.

Brantford—On Sunday, June 5th, Sergeant Frick farewelled for Kingston.

On Tuesday evening a large crowd gathered in the Citadel to witness the Sale of Children by auction. Sergeant Huntington was the auctioneer. A gentleman dressed in the height of fashion, representing wealth, bid for the children; another, seemingly in a state of infamy, representing the brewer, offered the children champagne at night and real pain in the morning, and poverty and rage and the poor-house in after years. Another gentleman offered education, another music; another fashion, etc., representing a Salvationist Sister, representing Christianity. The auctioneer, in a well-reasoned speech, decided that Christianity was the highest bidder, and the children were disposed of accordingly. The singing and droll's of the children were much applauded.

THEY HELD ON.

And Souls Were Saved.

High River—For the weekend, May 25th and 26th. We had with us Sergeant-Major Honeychurch, Sergeant Sanders, and Bandmaster Taylor, from Calgary. Two souls came out for salvation, and two for sanctification. The prayer meeting was continued till all but Soldiers and two left kneeling at the mercy-seat had left the Hall. Those who remained had a haldeigh wind-up.

Our S.D. target was reached.—C. C.

BLIND GIRL AT PENITENTIARY.

London.—Five souls sought pardon on Sunday night. One of the penitents was a blind girl, who had to be led to the mercy-seat.—C. O.

Commander Booth CONDUCTS UNSURPASSED CONGRESSES IN PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON.

COMMANDER BOOTH—Canada's old and well-known Commissioner has been holding a series of Special Campagnes in Philadelphia and Boston.

The Thirtieth Anniversary of The Army in Philadelphia was the occasion of the Congress in that city, and in connection with the Sunday's services, the New York Cry says:—

The beloved Commander rose magnificently to the occasion, at the Bethany Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, and again at the Garrick Theatre at night. At the Bethany Church, justly renowned as the temple in which the large Brotherhood Bible Class of two hundred men, led by Mr. John Wanamaker, merchant prince, has its home, the Commander had a few precious words with the men in their special auditorium, sharing the privilege of the occasion with the Rev. F. B. Meyer, the celebrated English evangelist.

Mr. Wanamaker introduced the Commander both here and in the church itself, where our Leader entered the wealthy and crowded congregation for an hour and a half upon the subject, "Wonderful." Mr.

Wanamaker's respect for the Commander and the cause she so ably championed, is of the highest; no one could have been more assiduous in his attention, or have spoken warmer words of welcome: "We feel as if a new bloom were coming over Bethany as you come among us, Commander, and as a result of your previous visit, which left many precious memories that time cannot erase," said the distinguished gentleman, among many other good things.

Our beloved Leader rallied splendidly for the night effort at the Garrick, where a "full house" listened with bated breath to "Omnipotence Unveiled." A full house did we say? It was Scripturally full—Gospel full—which means overfull and spilling over. To state a bare and bald fact, so rapidly did every part of the theatre fill up that at 7.45, fifteen minutes before time to commence, the police insisted upon closing the doors, as they regarded the danger limit as having been reached. "You have a capacity house," was remarked. It was so! And they stayed! And they wept! And laughed! And listened! And gave heed—many of them; how many, it is for the angels in Heaven to say, rather than us.

The Congress at Boston was splendidly successful, and concerning the Commander's meeting in the Majestic Theatre, our New York contemporary says:—

"The Majestic Theatre is in every way true to its name, it is a majestic affair, with the very latest style of expensive decoration and appointment. The brilliancy of the place itself cannot very well be over-described, but the vast audience at the Commander's meeting on Sunday night was just as brilliant as the place. The greatest majority of all Salvationists was connected with the wonderful, indescribable tenseness of feeling that took possession of the audience as the Commander, clothed in the lowly garb of a London flower-girl, walked, unaccompanied, upon the stage.

It was a sight without a sound.

MAJOR AND MRS. PHILLIPS WELCOMED AT VANCOUVER.

"Sweeping the Streets of the People."

(By wire.)

Major and Mrs. Phillips received a warm welcome from the Vancouver Officers' Soldiers and friends on Sunday, June 12th. The addresses from the Major and his wife were splendid, bringing much blessing to the people. All the meetings were largely attended, and there was a magnificent turnout of Salvationists all day, especially at night, when the march, headed by the magnificent Vancouver No. 1. Band, the rear being brought up by the Young People's Band, swept the streets of their people bringing to the doors of the Citadel large numbers who could not obtain admittance.

No. 1. Band made a nice little show in the morning, as it headed the lively Soldiers who followed. One man volunteered out to the penitent form at night, from the back of the Hall, and was followed by three more penitents later on. Ensign Hardy, who accompanies the Major, also received a hearty welcome.

GOOD WORK AT TORONTO I.

Soldiers' Roll Increased by Fifty Per Cent. During the Past Twelve Months.

The good work still continues at Toronto I. Last Sunday very good crowds attended the meetings, and at night ex-Alderman Vaughan read the lesson—there were nine out for salvation. Some of these were very interesting cases. A complete family of four—father, mother, and two sons—were among them. Also a woman, whose husband and daughter had got converted a week or two previously.

A few days ago, a shop-keeper who lives in the vicinity of the Hall stopped the Captain and told him that a good work was being done at The Army, for quite recently a convert had paid him four dollars off a long-standing account, whilst another had come to him and acknowledged a debt, and promised to pay. This makes four cases of this sort that have come to the Captain's notice within the past few weeks.

On Thursday evening a successful meeting was held, to celebrate the Corps taking possession of the new Hall. During the past year, the Soldiers' Roll has increased by Sixty per cent.

As showing how the people look to The Army, the Captain tells us that recently having occasion to be at the Hall during the early evening for an hour, quite a number of people called upon him for help. The first was an old, intoxicated woman, who asked that she might be allowed to sit down in the hall to rest herself. Then came two other women, one of whom had lost her husband, and wanted The Army to find him. Another called to see if the Captain could enable her to get some boarders, while the last was a poor, decrepit old soul, who wanted to know if the Captain couldn't tell her of a cheap little room.

Tell it to men who are living and dying in sin. Tell it to Jesus that you and your God. Tell it to you have chosen Him to be your Savior, and bid them cease to harbor the devil, and tell them to have their hearts, since you are, if necessary, determined to die for the truth.

T. H. Q. OFFICER AT DUXFORD

Uxbridge has been favoured with a visit from Captain Murdoch and Captain Nock, of Territorial Officers. A grand open-air service held on Saturday night, and added much to the service of the street and inside the hall music and singing was enjoyed all.

pictures in which the Great Assize remarkable exactitude demands. That great Day is to be a day of God, when all of Days shall sit, whose voice is known, His throne name; when God will sent into judgment, with all thing, whether it be good the Son of Man shall bring his angels and gather together the tares and then the reward every man according to his work. In that day God to the secrets of men by said, for there is nothing in all Jesus, that shall not be known, neither hid which shall be known. Whatsoever is in darkness, shall be in the light, and that which is in the ear, shall be proponed the house-topos.

For what human instinct combined in human expression so definitely to depict revelation, with equal and awful definiteness, only foretells.

It is impossible to overestimate the truth as a motive for it is holy and sincere in those who believe it. We see how it affects apostles. Opposed by all the heathenism, and standing amidst of simple souls a world infatuated by their error, they ceaselessly appealed on almost every page of their writings, especially of St. Paul's, who they actually live in the spirit of the Great Day. The day is ever before them. It is their concurrence. Their salvation is as by men whose will be tried by it, fires. It is by which they are to be saved. The light from that day is to be the searching light of their lives will be reviewed.

As with them, so it is now. The sense of our responsibility for the accountability to Almighty God the whole life of the world, the highway of men made in the image of God, coming forth from, charged with the accomplishment of His purpose, and returning to give our own account of all we have done.

The New Hired Man.

Harnessing the Home Stream.

SHE auto rumbled over a bridge which spanned a noisy stream, climbed a small wooded knoll, and the country home, ablaze with electric light, lay below us.

"Where in the world do you get the electricity from?" I questioned, with astonishment, for I had expected no such convenience so far from the city.

"Get it out of that brook we just and Guernsey cattle, the Dorset sheep and the registered Percheron and Belgian horses, and bird-fancier could profitably spend his time looking over the different breeds of choice fowls or the saucy industry, and the sportsman would be more than interested in the well-equipped fish hatchery where trout are propagated. But for me, with an engineering bent, nothing was worth noticing until I had studied this wonderful electrical power which I found on every hand so buoyant with the farm work.

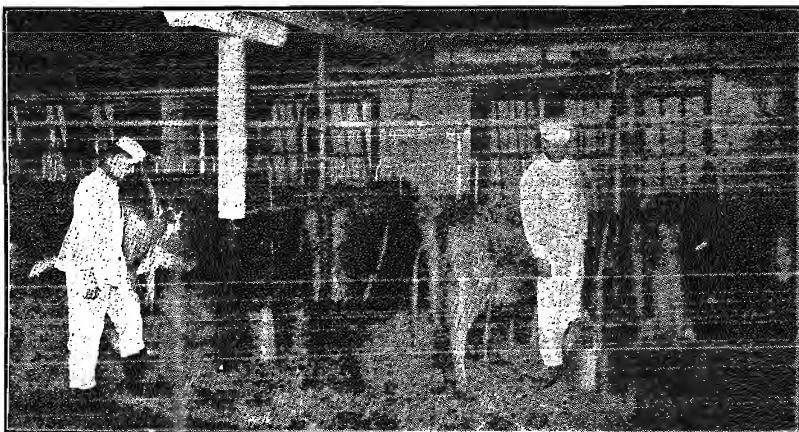

Nearly three years ago it was when Mr. Miner decided to provide his farm with electricity for light and power, and so successful was this initial installation that the plant has been added to from time to time, resulting in more complete and novel application of electricity to farm work.

For hundreds of years two streams had merrily traversed the Miner farm, the smaller known as Tracy Brook, the larger called the Chazy River, and all this while these streams had been doing little more than make a merry noise over the rocks and pebbles. Investigation proved that they offered cheap and reliable sources of power, and the engineers decided that it was time they went to work if they were to continue "living" with Mr. Miner. Three small concrete dams were thrown across the Tracy Brook, giving a reservoir area of one hundred and twenty acres. A concrete pena thirty-foot fall, for it is the weight of water falling that constitutes its power. This water is carried to Little Chazy power-house through a concrete penstock, forty-eight by six inches and six hundred and thirty feet in length, where it pours into a concrete flume. Through steel pipes the pent-up waters rush out with the force of nearly three hundred horses, madly whirling turbines and generators until the potential energy of the water is changed into two hundred electrical horse-power, alternating current, at a pressure of twenty-three hundred volts. This electrical power is carried over copper wires, strung on poles, two miles and three-quarters to the same little central distributing station.

No expense was spared to make these power houses the most perfect of their kind. Besides being all connected on the telephone line they are equipped with both hand and automatic governors and controllers, so the service cannot be interrupted by accident and can be easily controlled under all conditions.

In the central power station are located the switchboards, from which the electricity is controlled over the various distributing lines, transformers for lowering the voltage or pressure and the motor-generating sets to charge the alternating current from the Little Chazy power station into direct current for farm use. There is also a storage battery, so that the electricity need not stop even if some accident should happen to the generating sources. This battery, with a capacity of six hundred amper-hours, is also used as a "balancer" to keep the voltage steady and for lighting crossed," answered my companion, indifferently.

"Out of the brook!" I cried, suspecting that he was trying to have some fun at my expense.

"Sure, out of the brook," he retorted, convincingly. "We've harnessed the stream down there in the valley and are making the water do a large part of the work on this big farm nowadays, when hired help is so scarce and high-priced."

That next morning I hurried out to watch the new hired man. Electricity, milk the cows, prepare the feed for the stock, pump the water, separate and churn the cream and do most of the other chores about the farm buildings.

All this was on the magnificent country estate well named Heart's Delight, and owned by Mr. W. H. Miner, at Chazy, Clinton County, New York. This estate covers an area of fifty-one hundred and sixty acres, surrounding the old Miner homestead of one hundred and fifty acres. Twelve hundred acres are under cultivation and a like number are used for pasture. The remainder is pretty woodland, clothing hill and dale, fell and fen, in majestic foliage.

There are many things of interest about this wonderful country home, from the elk, deer, and buffalo in the pretty little park, to the fine herds of pure-bred shorthorn Durham stock, forty-four inches in diameter and six hundred and seventy feet long, carries the water from the lower dam to a tiny power-house, under a nineteen-foot head, where it dashes against the blades of two powerful reaction turbine water-wheels. On each water-wheel shaft is fastened the revolving armature of an electric dynamo, one of forty horsepower and one of seventeen horsepower, generating direct current at a pressure of two hundred and twenty volts. This electrical energy is transmitted over a pole line one mile and a quarter to a small distributing station located in the main group of farm buildings.

Such was the initial equipment; but the "new hired man" did his work so thoroughly and so well, never complaining about early rising, never objecting to scrubbing the milk cans or turning the hateful grindstone, and never getting mad and quitting the very morning that five acres of hay were down and ready for the barn, that it was decided to erect a new and larger power-plant on the Chazy River, about a mile below the Tracy Brook power-house, and extend the electrification to every portion of the farm work. A concrete dam was built to hold the water in storage, and a second dam was constructed below the first to give the water-wheels the benefit of and power after 9:30 p.m., at which time the hydro-electric plants are shut down for the night. This storage battery is built in a reservoir for storing electricity for future use. At Heart's Delight farm the wiring from building to building is all concealed and underground in conduits. Besides the lighting of the homes and farm buildings with hundreds of incandescent lamps, the yards and roadways are lighted with flaming arc lamps. There are numerous motors on the place, ranging all the way from the tiny fellow that grinds the feed for the growing trout, to the twenty-five horse-power motor which requires feed for the horses and cattle. In the main dairy barn a ten-horse-power motor unloads and handles the hay. With this apparatus a ton of hay may be unloaded and stored in either end of the large loft by two men in less than five minutes. On the main floor of this barn is a feed-cutting machine for preparing fodder for the cattle, run by a smaller motor, and in the dairy section a one-and-a-half-horse-power motor operates the vacuum pump for the milking machines. There are five milking machines in use, milking ten cows at the same time, the suction being applied by an automatic valve on each device, imitating perfectly the effect of hand milking, with the added

Four Generations of Salvationists.

These comprise the late Mother Vincent of Paris, and her daughter, Mrs. Ware; the grand-daughter, Mrs. McLaughlin, and the great-grandsons. Captain Taylor informs us that he has had the four generations at the open-air meeting at one time.

Following interesting account of his visit:-

"Para Chinar is situated at the top of Karram Valley, surrounded, on each side by unfriendly tribes which are constantly raiding. Beyond the snow-capped mountains is Afghanistan. Every man goes about armed to the teeth, for it is not safe to travel alone without escort. After a long railway journey, changing from the broad to the narrow gauge at Kohat, passing the famous Dargai Hill, where in 1898, the British force fought for thirteen days, before taking it, and where Piper Plindler made his fame, by playing "The Cock o' the North," after having been shot through both ankles; we came to Thall, the last station of the narrow gauge. From Kohat we note that all railway stations are forts—four large walls, with a loop hole as ticket-window, two squat towers and an iron gateway to close all within. The men are tall, fierce, and of the warrior style, some with distinguished features. From Thall, where a big camp was formed—all native troops—I had to drive by native vehicle, to Para Chinar, taking two days to make the journey. Owing to the prospective visit of the Viceroy, troops were stationed at every fort, and at night lamp signals flashed from fort to tower, every prominence being picketed. Special native cavalry was sent as a bodyguard for the Viceroy, and even the bearers, cooks, and other servants, had military revolvers and cartridge-belts strapped on while waiting at table.

"I had a comfortable tent at my disposal, and my needs were well provided for. During three nights I gave cinematograph exhibitions to the Pathans, who had never seen anything like it before. They were amazed, very pleased, and thankful. To look upon those fine fellows makes one covet them for The Salvation Army."

Exhibition Campaign in Japan.

Acting-Commissioner Hodder has just concluded a very successful Ten Days' Campaign in connection with an Exhibition which is taking place at the town of Nagoya. For ten days he had the use of a building which had been erected specially in the interests of Christian Work. There were some crowded meetings led by Major Yabuki and others, and one hundred souls came to the mercy seat.

Visit to Leper Institute

Colonel Govaars recently visited the Leper Institution, which has been placed under our care by the Government, in the billy district of Java. He held meetings both for the European and Javanese inmates. The Colonel was especially delighted with the spirit displayed, and the testimonies given by a number of Javanese lepers, who have been converted largely through the efforts of Ensign Liem Giek No, a Chinese lassie Officer, who has been working amongst these poor sufferers.

A Korean Dedication Ceremony.

On a recent Sunday morning Mrs. Colonel Hoggard dedicated the two children of Lieutenant Yi Nam Choo—who has been an Officer for about a year—to God and The Army. The Lieutenant's wife is a shy, retiring Korean woman, who had never appeared in public before. However, she went on the platform, and stood by her husband whilst the children were given to God.

In order to shield her somewhat from the public gaze, until she had recovered her feelings, a large sheet of paper, on which was written a Korean translation of "Gentle Jesus," was held up in front of her as a sort of screen. When this was removed, she went through the ordeal bravely, and ended by giving herself afresh to God.

Native Work in South Africa.

Commissioner Richards has just paid a visit to various Native Settlements. In a communication just to hand, he says:-

"The work that is being achieved in some places is really miraculous. I spent Sunday and Monday at Jim Osborne Settlement, with our Senior Native Officers, Ensign and Mrs. Mariano Matunawa. They were sent up here to open fire just twelve months ago. He commenced by building himself some huts; later he built a strongly-made square house of stone, which resembles a European house.

"We had three hundred Natives packed into our Hall, which has also been erected since his arrival. I saw over forty-two Soldiers, commissioned six Local Officers, and dedicated eighteen children. This Corps has been splendidly organised. We have now 101 Soldiers, with fifteen Local Officers, and a fine Junior Work. The whole has been raised by our Native Officer."

Some time after the Ensign's arrival at this place, he was called to the funeral of a heathen woman. When her friends were taking her to the grave, the Ensign refused to allow her to be buried until she remained a little longer above ground. The result was that next morning the woman reviled, and, as the people state, rose from the dead. The Ensign immediately preached Christ to the woman, she got converted, and is one of our best Soldiers to-day. Strange to say, another case of this kind occurred some time subsequently. Another heathen woman also was rescued by the Ensign in the same manner, and she is now saved and marching in our ranks.

We had a unique march on the Sunday afternoon, with 173 in the procession, made up of Soldiers, recruits, and converts, with a few adherents. The procession was led by a stalwart native, who sang through a bullock's horn, which acted as a sort of megaphone. This man was at one time said by the natives to be possessed by devils. He would get into paroxysms of fury, his features would work convulsively, he would paint his face and body in a diabolical way with different coloured clays, and would roar like a wild beast. The women in the kraal would fly terror-stricken into the bush. On the Ensign's visit to the kraal, he explained the way of salvation to this poor man, who, after listening quietly for a considerable time, said, "This is good for my wife." He ordered her to go to the meeting and get converted, which the poor woman was glad to do. Immediately she felt the change in her soul, she said to the Ensign, "This is good for me, but what about my poor husband? You must bring him into the light." The Ensign spent that afternoon with the man, and he got gloriously saved. He is now a Sergeant, and leader of the singing through his horn. He is a most acceptable "Special" in the different kraals, and deemed to be a real miracle of grace by both natives and Europeans.

Another case is that of an old man who was one of King Mpande's warriors. (Mpande was the father of King Cetwayo, and one of the greatest kings that has reigned in Zululand.) This man had been so degraded by drink and smoking insangu (kind of opiate) that he was deemed a madman. No native would give him his daughter to wife, so that he was left entirely to drink and smoke himself to death. The Ensign sought him out, and followed him up, until he gave himself to God. This he did, in the most whole-hearted fashion; smashing beer-hows, pipes, pipe-horn, and everything pertaining to the evil life. On Sunday last he gave a soul-stirring testimony, punctuated by the "Hos" and "Amen" of the crowded congregation.—I. H. G.

THE NEW HIRED MAN.

ensure of absolute cleanliness, as the machines are all enclosed. After being tested the milk is run through a motor-driven separator in the milkroom on the same floor and the cream taken to the butter-making section. This cream is "ripened" in a covered tank before it is churned by electric power. Near the dairy is an electric ice-making plant, and refrigerator with a capacity of twenty tons of ice every twenty-four hours, the ammonia and brine pumps being operated by electric power. This ice is used for domestic purposes, for cold storage and for shipping perishable products.

The large motor used to drive the grist mill in another building is so arranged that it can be readily taken into the fields for threshing purposes. In all the other buildings where power is required there you will find a busy little electric motor doing the work that formerly had to be done by hand, horse or steam power. In the house the laundry has been electrified with motor-driven washing-machines, wringers, centrifugal dryers, mangles and electric flattens. Among the other auxiliary electric devices at the cottage are an electric piano, complete electric heating and cooking devices, meat choppers, butter and grinders, motor-driven ice-cream freezer and numerous electric fans. On top of one of the fire-tank towers is an electrical instrument which automatically records on a chart in the house a continuous record of the speed and direction of the wind, the amount of moisture in the air and the precipitation.

Electricity Everywhere at Work.

In the fish-hatchery a motor runs the grinding machine which prepares the food for the trout confined in small concrete ponds. A seven-horse-power motor drives a centrifugal pump, automatically maintaining a large supply of spring water in a steel tower tank for use in the refrigerator plant. Water for fire protection is forced by two hydraulic rams to a sixty-thousand-gallon tank one hundred feet above ground on a steel tower. There is also a complete sausage-making plant, including a meat cutter and mixing machine driven by a four-horse-power motor, which also supplies power to the machine that prepares the waste bone and gristle for chicken feed.

The time and labor saved, the insured safety and sanitation, the well-lighted buildings express more eloquently than mere words the enormous value of this electric service.

Electricity is the gentle that accomplishes the hard work and the wonders about this model farm. It does a hundred things, and on every hand greets one with a new and novel application of this mysterious force. The plant is as perfect as modern engineering methods can devise, and has been in successful operation for several years, each month's record showing the vast amount of labor saved by harnessing the streams and the electrical conveniences enjoyed by those who live on this country estate. By night the buildings and the yards are ablaze with electric lights and by day the buildings hum with many busy motors doing the work of scores of hired men. This plant, one of the most perfect of its kind, cost thousands of dollars, and yet it can truthfully be said to be a paying investment, the annual cost of maintenance being far below the actual saving in labor and farm costs for other and inferior power and light.

"We have had electric service for a period of about three years," said the foreman, enthusiastically, "and I think we have proved that the electric motor can be successfully and economically applied to all the machinery on a farm. The electrical machinery is especially long-lived and our yearly bills for repairs are very small."

Formerly we had both traction and stationary engines and a host of horses and men to do this work, but thanks to those busy streams all that old bother and fire risk has been eliminated. To-day we can have the power where we want it, scattered all over the place, always ready and willing.

With a reel of insulated cable we can carry our twenty-five-horse-power portable motor anywhere about the farm. It does more work than a traction engine, and requires no gasoline to tend it. In our machine shops electric motors drive the band saw, circular saw, peeling mills, lathe, wood planer, sanding disk, and our blacksmith shop will soon be completely electrified. In the sheep barn the electric power does work very similar to that done in the dairy. There are in all twenty-seven motors on the place, aggregating one hundred and thirty horse-power; such flexibility of power would be out of the question with steam or gasoline engines."—The Saturday Evening Post.

THE COMMISSIONER AND THE STAFF BAND.

ness in the prayer meeting, led by Brigadier Burdett.

Sunday Afternoon.

About two thousand people assembled in the great Walker Theatre for the Service of Praise. E. D. Martin, Esq., presided. He eulogized The Army's work, and said he would like to see the Government entrust us with more of the work of building up the Dominion. "We know that the chief object of The Army, when they bring us new citizens, is to make them good," he continued. Lastly, he spoke of the Commissioner. While in Australia, he (Mr. Martin) had heard on every hand, kind references to our present Leader, who, as Territorial Commander, spent some years there. He wished there were more such men in the country.

The Band was in good form, and went through its long programme in a most creditable manner. The "Hallelujah Chorus" was introduced for the first time, and made a "hit" right away.

Sunday Night.

A magnificent audience was present at the night meeting. "There is a better world, they say," was sung with unusual heartiness, when it is remembered that in the audience were hundreds of "outsiders."

Two selections by the Band, "Songs of Comfort," and "Still Unsaved," made a great impression. Colonel Simpson testified to the blessings he had received while on this side of the Atlantic, and said that he was returning to England with the decided opinion that Canadians were "a fine, good lot."

The Commissioner entrusted the Colonel with a message of love from Wimipeg Salvationists and friends, to The General. Colonel Howell also spoke.

What actually went on while the Commissioner spoke on the words of Jesus, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock," God alone saw and heard. 'Tis certain that He knocked very loudly at many hearts, and whilst the Male Choir sang, "Where is my wandering boy?" those hearts were flung open to receive Christ.

The first to kneel at the mercy-seat was an old man, bent and grey with age. Four more men and women sought salvation, before the prayer meeting closed, and Wimipeg's greatest Sunday was a thing of the past. But it will live on, in hearts and in history, "Almighty," said the Commissioner, quoting The General, "The Army is too busy to write it."

It is with sorrow that we learn of the passing away of the father of Adjutant McRae, at Webbswood. The Adjutant is a veteran Officer of the Canadian Field, and we are sure the sympathy of all his comrades will be extended to him.

Salvation Songs

Holiness.

Tunes.—Euphony, 110; Sagina, 118; Song Book, No. 475.

- 1 Now I have found the ground wherein
Sure my soul's anchor may remain;
The wounds of Jesus, for my sin,
Before the world's foundation slain;
Whose mercy shall unshaken stay,
When Heaven and earth are fled away.

2 Love, thou bottomless abyss,
My sins are swallowed up in Thee;
Covered is my unrighteousness,
Nor spot of guilt remains on me;
While Jesus' blood, through earth and skies,
Mercy, free, boundless mercy, erles.

Tunes—Confidence, 4; Ernan, 6; Song Book, No. 415.

- 2 Come, Saviour, Jesus, from above,
Assist me with Thy heavenly grace;
Empty my heart of earthly love,
And for Thyself prepare the place.
Oh, let Thy sacred presence fill,
And set my longing spirit free;
Which wants to have no other will,
But day and night to feast on Thee.
Nothing on earth do I desire
But Thy pure love within my breast;
This, only this, do I require,
And freely give up all the rest.

War and Testimony.

Tunes.—Come, comrades dear, 136, A and C; He Lives, 138; Song Book, No. 229.

- 3 Come, comrades, dear, who love the Lord,
Who taste the sweets of Jesus' word;
In Jesus' ways go on;
Our troubles and our trials here,
Will only make us richer there,
When we arrive at home.

And when we come to dwell above,
And all surround the throne of love,
We'll drink a full supply;
Jesus will lead His Soldiers forth
To living streams of richest worth,
That never will run dry.

Tune.—Fighting on, B. J., 382, Eb and F; Song Book, No. 546.

- 4 To the war! to the war! loud and long sounds the cry;
To the war! every Soldier who fears not to die;
See the millions who're drifting to Hell's endless woe,
Oh, who, in the name of Jehovah will go?

Chorus.
Fighting on.

To the war! to the war! who'll the war-ry obey?
Tis the great God who calls you to fight while 'tis day;
Though the battle be fierce, and though mighty the foe,
The Salvation Army to victory must go.

Salvation.

Tune.—Haste away to Jesus, 36, D and F; Song Book, No. 146.

- 5 The angel of the Lord shall stand white thousand thunders roar,
And swear, by Heaven's eternal threats, that time shall be no more;
The earth and everything thereto shall melt with fervent heat,
And sinners found still in their sin, will have their God to meet.

Chorus.
Haste away to Jesus—
Oh, hear the warning cry!
Haste away to Jesus,
For death is drawing nigh.

When once the Judgment day is past,
"Twill be in vain to pray;
Wherever then your lot is cast, for ever you must stay.
Oh, awful thought! When time's no more, this is God's firm decree,
In happiness or woe you'll dwell through all eternity!

Tunes—early to die.

6 With a sorrow for sin Must repentance begin,
Then salvation, of course will draw nigh;

But till washed in the Blood,
Of the crucified Lord,
You will never be ready to die.

Chorus.

We've His word and His oath,
And His Blood seals them both—
And we're sure the Almighty can't lie—

If you do not delay,
But repent while you may,

He will soon make you ready to die.

Chorus.

And that you may succeed,
Come alone with all your sins,
To a Saviour who will not deny,
And knock down at His feet.

At the first opportunity,

And He will soon make you ready to die.
